

I hear the national association of broadcasters feathers are ruffled by XM offering instant traffic and weather. I personally don't live in any of the cities but I do travel to some of them and find the instant traffic and weather A great benefit to people traveling. XM satellite radio is A great alternative to the boring hum drum comercial filled top 40 stations that are on FM and the traffic and weather can be heard without having to wait for commercials or long winded disk jockeys to shut up. Satelllite radio also provides A wide variety of music that is not heard on the AM or FM bands. As A customer who CHOOSES to pay to get these services the national association of broadcasters need either to improve it's services to compete with satelllite radio or shut the hell up and leave satelllite radio alone. Satelllite radio is well worth the money I pay every month to get the kind of music and traffic and weather info I want and best of all it's comercial free. The only reason the national association of broadcasters are crying foul is because they know satelllite radio is A threat to them. If they don't want to improve then they should shut up and get out of the way. As A paid customer to satelllite radio I don't appreciate the national association of broadcasters telling satelllite radio what they should or shouldn't broadcast. I STRONGLY urge you to tell that bunch of flunkies to leave satelllite radio alone.
